

Colin Hill

CEO and Co-Founder, Aitia.

Colin Hill is a leading voice in AI and precision medicine and brings impressive leadership experience in developing and commercializing AI solutions and discoveries in biopharmaceutical drug discovery and development and in managed care industries. Colin currently serves on the board of Centrexion Therapeutics, a biotech company focused on developing and commercializing non-opioid, non-addictive chronic pain drugs.

He is a frequent speaker at national and international scientific and industry conferences and has appeared in numerous publications and television programs, including The Wall Street Journal, CNBC Morning Call & SquawkBox, Nature, Boston Globe, Politico, Forbes, Wired, and The Economist.

He graduated from Virginia Tech with a degree in physics and earned Master's degrees in physics from both McGill University and Cornell University.